We're here to help

Being a leader, often means feeling alone when it comes to decision making. Sometimes there are challenges that you just can't get your head around. Sometimes you can just feel a bit lost and not sure of the direction to take. Everyday Leader Coaching is here to help be your guide in moments like this.

Our approach

Everyday Leader Coaching is about creating the space for you to reflect on the situation that you are in. Every session is unique to you and as you talk through the issue, we will ask you questions to help you explore and discover a way forward.

Coaching is very powerful as it helps you take ownership. Our approach is not about telling you what to do, it is helping you draw it out of yourself. Our coaches have a rich experience of leadership and if we think we have something that will help your thinking, we will ask if you would like to see some tools that might help. Most of the answers you already have and we will help you draw them out.

Where and how long?

The key thing is having uninterrupted time. We can meet you at our coaching space in Middlewood Green, online via Zoom, or meet locally to you if that helps.
